Currently, he teaches an online, 10-month comprehensive training program in Chinese Herbal Medicine, Yao Shan Herb Program, in addition to his multiple online and in-person courses.

Course Outline:

Women and couples increasingly are turning to Chinese medicine to help them conceive and maintain a healthy pregnancy. Chinese medicine has been used for centuries to cultivate fertility and remove obstacles to conception. At every stage of the process, in a natural cycle or with ART, Chinese medicine offers powerful treatments to maximize the chances of pregnancy and, most importantly, the health of the mother. The essence of cultivating fertility is nourishing women's (and men's) health.

This course will focus on diagnosing and treating the major obstacles to pregnancy. Both acupuncture strategies and herbal medicine will be used to craft treatments. Pulse Diagnosis and Tongue Diagnosis with a special focus on gynecology will be presented. Treatment demonstrations with a focus on special needling techniques for the cultivating yin, invigorating yang, as well as eight extraordinary vessel needling techniques will be presented.

In this course you will learn to diagnose and treat:

- Ovulation Disorders: Polycystic Ovary Syndrome (PCOS), Thyroid imbalances from a CM perspective
- Uterine Blockages: various types of uterine stagnations including, uterine polyps and fibroids, fallopian tube blockages
- Pelvic adhesions: from endometriosis, surgeries and pelvic inflammatory disease
- Ovarian Insufficiency: from immune disorders or damage to the jing-essence
As well as some of the more subtle blocks and to pregnancy

You will learn to:

- Flexibly use multiple herbal medicine formulas with precise modifications to treat common and complex obstacles to pregnancy
- Use multiple channel systems, including Eight Extraordinary Vessels, Luo Vessels, Sinew Channels to resolve major blockages to conception

You will increase your skills in:

- Pulse Diagnosis with specialty focus on gynecology: key pulse images and patterns for precision in diagnosis and tracking of treatment
- Tongue Diagnosis with specialty focus on gynecology: identify specific zones on the tongue for the female body and precise finding on the tongue for cysts, fibroids, uterine stagnations and much more!
